Air Canada Reports More Service Cuts, Station Closures In Atlantic Canada: Atlantic Canada's airports were advised Tuesday of more service cuts and station closures by Air Canada that will become effective Jan. 11, 2021. As of that day, Air Canada will be suspending all flights until further notice in Sydney, N.S., and Saint John, N.B., and suspending four routes until further notice in Deer Lake, N.L., Charlottetown, Fredericton and Halifax.

WestJet Expands Pre-Travel Hawaii Testing To Ontario And British Columbia: WestJet is expanding its pre-flight COVID-19 testing program for Hawaii passengers to Ontario and British Columbia. Last month, Hawaii announced Canadians who provide a negative COVID-19 test within 72 hours of their flight can avoid the mandatory 14-day quarantine for all passengers arriving on the islands. The tests, administered by LifeLabs, cost $199 plus tax in Ontario and $250 plus tax in British Columbia.

Reminder - Use ArriveCAN To Enter Canada: Use ArriveCAN to provide mandatory travel information on and after your entry into Canada. This link can also be found on your Maritime Travel itinerary/receipt – Apollo Client Statement.

Vaccine Airlift Delivers Shot In The Arm For Airlines: Airlines battered by COVID-19 are prepping for key roles in the mass vaccine rollout that promises to unlock an immediate boost for the sector - and beyond that, its own recovery and survival. Big challenges await carriers leading the airlift, as well as the drugmakers, logistics firms, governments and international agencies planning the deployment across networks blighted by the pandemic.

Airlines Try COVID-19 Tested Transatlantic Flights To Build Confidence: KLM, the Dutch arm of Air France-KLM, on Friday said it would begin offering COVID-19 tested flights to Atlanta, the latest example of a European airline adopting a testing strategy to increase passenger confidence in flying amid the coronavirus pandemic.
